ALBANY, N. Y., April 9,-Stock prokers cannot sell the securitles of a customer given as collateral for stock held on a margin without giv ing reasonable notice to the custome of intention to sell, despite the fact that the market may be in a panicky condition, according to a decision handed down today by the court of appeals.

The case decided was that of ida Small against Housman & Co. of New York. The woman had an account with the firm during the panic of 1907 and was in Europe at the time, an agent having charge of her affairs. The agent was asked to produce more collateral and when he falled to do so the collateral held by the brokers was sold with short notice. Judge Werner, in the opinion today, held the case should be submitted to a jury to determine whether sufficient notice was given.

"The object to be attained by giving the notice," says Judge Werner, in the opinion, "is to afford the debtor an opportunity to be present at the sale to see and know that ty disposed of to the best advan-In the case at bar the contitions are exceptional. It was a ime of tense excitement. Notwithstanding these conditions, it was still the duty of the defendants to give the plaintiff reasonable notice."

But the brewing at home is mussy and out-of-date. Nowadays skilled chemists sdo this better than ourselves.
